There's a New Hospital in Town!

There's a new hospital in town. I've discovered at least 18 physician-owned micro hospitals across the country in 11 states, like the Green Bay ER & Hospital. These hospitals operate between urgent care and full-size hospitals. They are open 24/7 and have only 4 to 10 inpatient beds. While they accept commercial insurance and offer cash payment options, they do not accept Medicare.

The federal No Surprises Act gives you access to these 5-star facilities. Your health plan must treat an emergency visit as in-network, even if it's out of your network. Your insurer must pay the bill for emergency care, and you cannot be billed more than your co-pays, deductibles, and co-insurance.
